The History of The University of New Haven

The University of New Haven first originated as an educational institution in the period following the termination of World War I. In 1920 when the need for adult education was apparent, Northeastern University organized the New Haven Division of its University and located it at the Young Mens Christian Association of New Haven. The first years enrollment into the vocational courses was approximately 225 students.

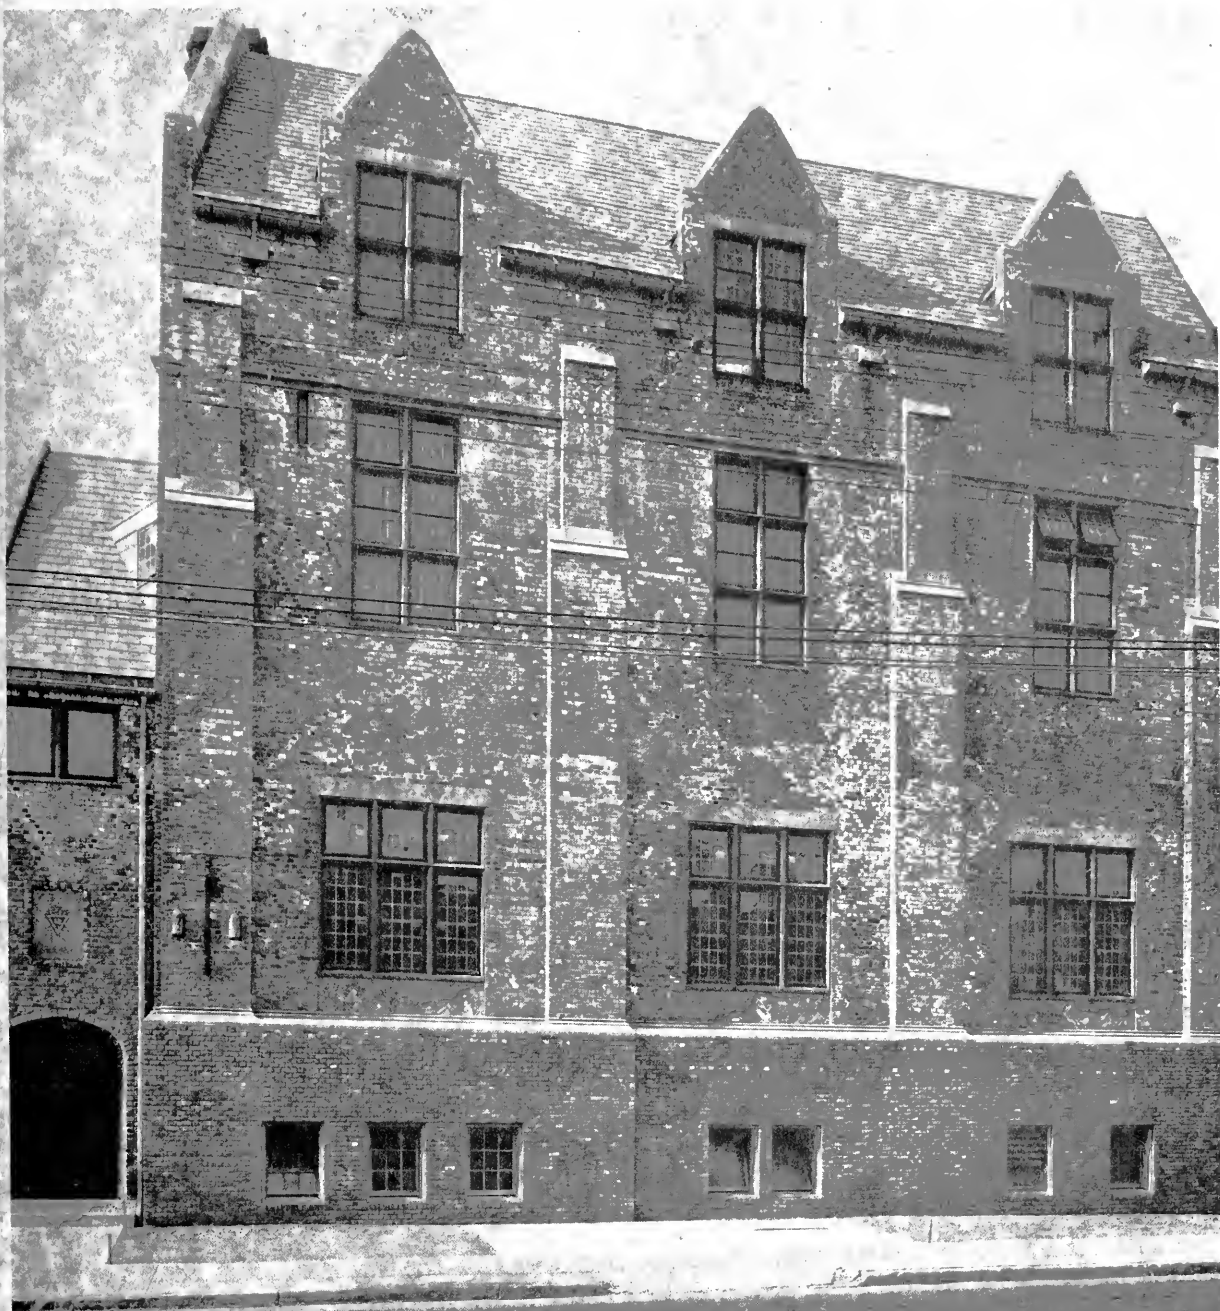

The University set up three departments at this time; the Engineering Department, a Commerce and Finance Department and a Preparatory Department, which was known as the Northeastern Preparatory School. This program started with less than fifty students and when in 1925 when it became New Haven Preparatory School enrollment had grown to about one-hundred and seventy-five.

In May of 1926 the institution changed and names, under the laws of the State of Connecticut. The New Haven Division of Northeastern University and general administration of the Preparatory School was turned over to and re-named as the New Haven College. Within five years later Yale University recognized the college's real need for space and facilities and thus generously donated the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale at the disposal of New Haven College for evening classes. In 1930 Yale also allowed us the use of several other buildings and classrooms including; Winchester Hall, Dunham Lab, Leet Oliver Hall, Hammond Metallurgical Lab and the Engineering Mechanics Hall. The YMCA's gymnasium was also being used for sporting activities. At this time under Ellis C. Maxcy Director of New Haven College, the College offered evening instruction in Business, Engineering, Liberal and Applied Arts.

Student organizations and activities consisted of such groups as the Student Council, at which today is the Day Student Government, the New Haven College News, a monthly newspaper and today a weekly publication and monthly student assemblies; lectures given by business and professional people.

The New Haven College program of studies in Engineering, Accounting and Business Administration was accredited in 1935 by legislative act of the State of Connecticut and authority was granted to offer the Associate in Science degree. In the year 1940-41 the New Haven College became known as the New Haven YMCA Junior College. During the 20 years of growth from 1920-1940 the college had developed two strong departments — The Engineering Department and the Department of Accounting and Business Administration. Two other departments had also been developed, one offering unit courses of a college level and the other offering additional preparation for admission to college.

When New Haven College had reached its 21st year it had four year programs of study in Accounting, Business Administration, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering and Building Construction Engineering.

In 1945 the New Haven YMCA Junior College celebrated its 25th Anniversary as an educational institution. Congratulations came from all over including the Mayor of New Haven and the President of Yale. At this time Lawrence Bethel was Director of New Haven YMCA Junior College.

In 1945 New Haven YMCA College was still exclusively an evening college. Maybe even the only one of its kind at this time. By this time it had also trained 7,500 regular college students and 8,000 special war training students. During this time the college offered an Associate in Science in the Division of Business (Accounting and Business Administration), Division of Engineering (Aeronautical, Electrical, Material and Mechanical) and Division of Management (Personnel Supervision and Industrial Administration).

From Oct. 1940 until July 1945 the college also carried the responsibility for the administration of special war training courses with cooperation of Yale. These courses were designed to provide education at the collegiate level to meet specific war needs. They were sponsored by the United States Office of Education and were discontinued following V-E Day.

1952 marked the first class in the School of Executive Development (SED); a four year program for mid-level executives for the development of additional understanding. Division of the college were at this time four separate divisions; the Division of Advanced Technical Studies, the Division of General Studies, the Division of Special Studies and the School of Executive Development all of which were degree granting.

Again the college goes thru a name change and becomes New Haven College and the Junior College section is for Associate in Science degree only.

In 1954 President Bethel is granted a leave of absence and in 1955 Marvin K. Peterson becomes the new president of New Haven College.

New Haven College in 1960, acquires its own campus in West Haven, only after a series of run-ins with the neighbors. The West Haven residents were quoted as saying "we are willing to take any legal action to block the bid of the New Haven County Home Building by New Haven College." After many disagreements the land and building was finally sold to New Haven College even though they were the lowest bidder. So in 1960 New Haven College found a home of its own. Only two years had passed before 26 more acres of land were purchased, which is now North Campus.

The New Haven College expanded its grounds tremendously in the 60's, adding the Engineering Building, the Student Center Building, the Graduate Building, and later other land and buildings were added to the list.

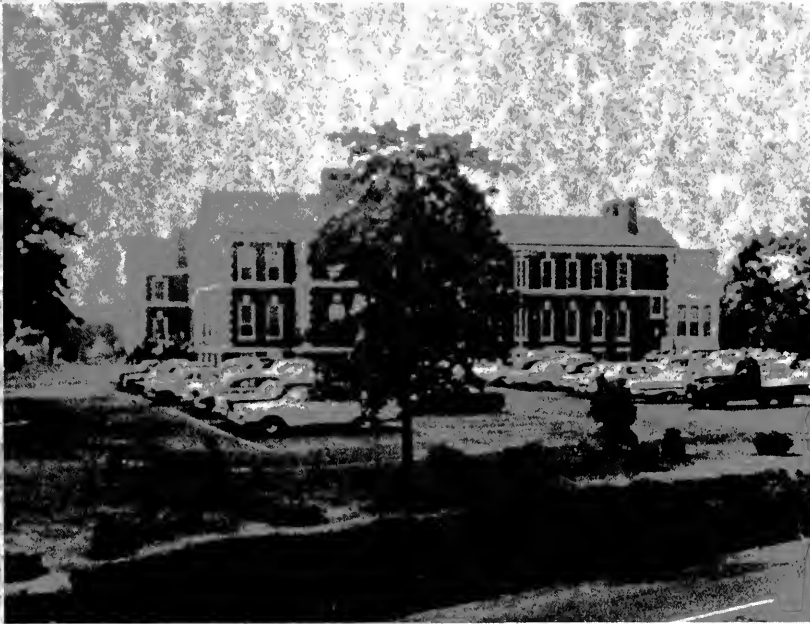

In 1969 the Graduate School was developed, having several different areas of study, in Business Administration and Engineering.

Finally in October of 1970 the Board of Governors of New Haven College voted to change the name to its present one; The University of New Haven. This was approved by the State of Connecticut and today we enjoy University status.

Marvin K. Peterson, President

Main Building 1970

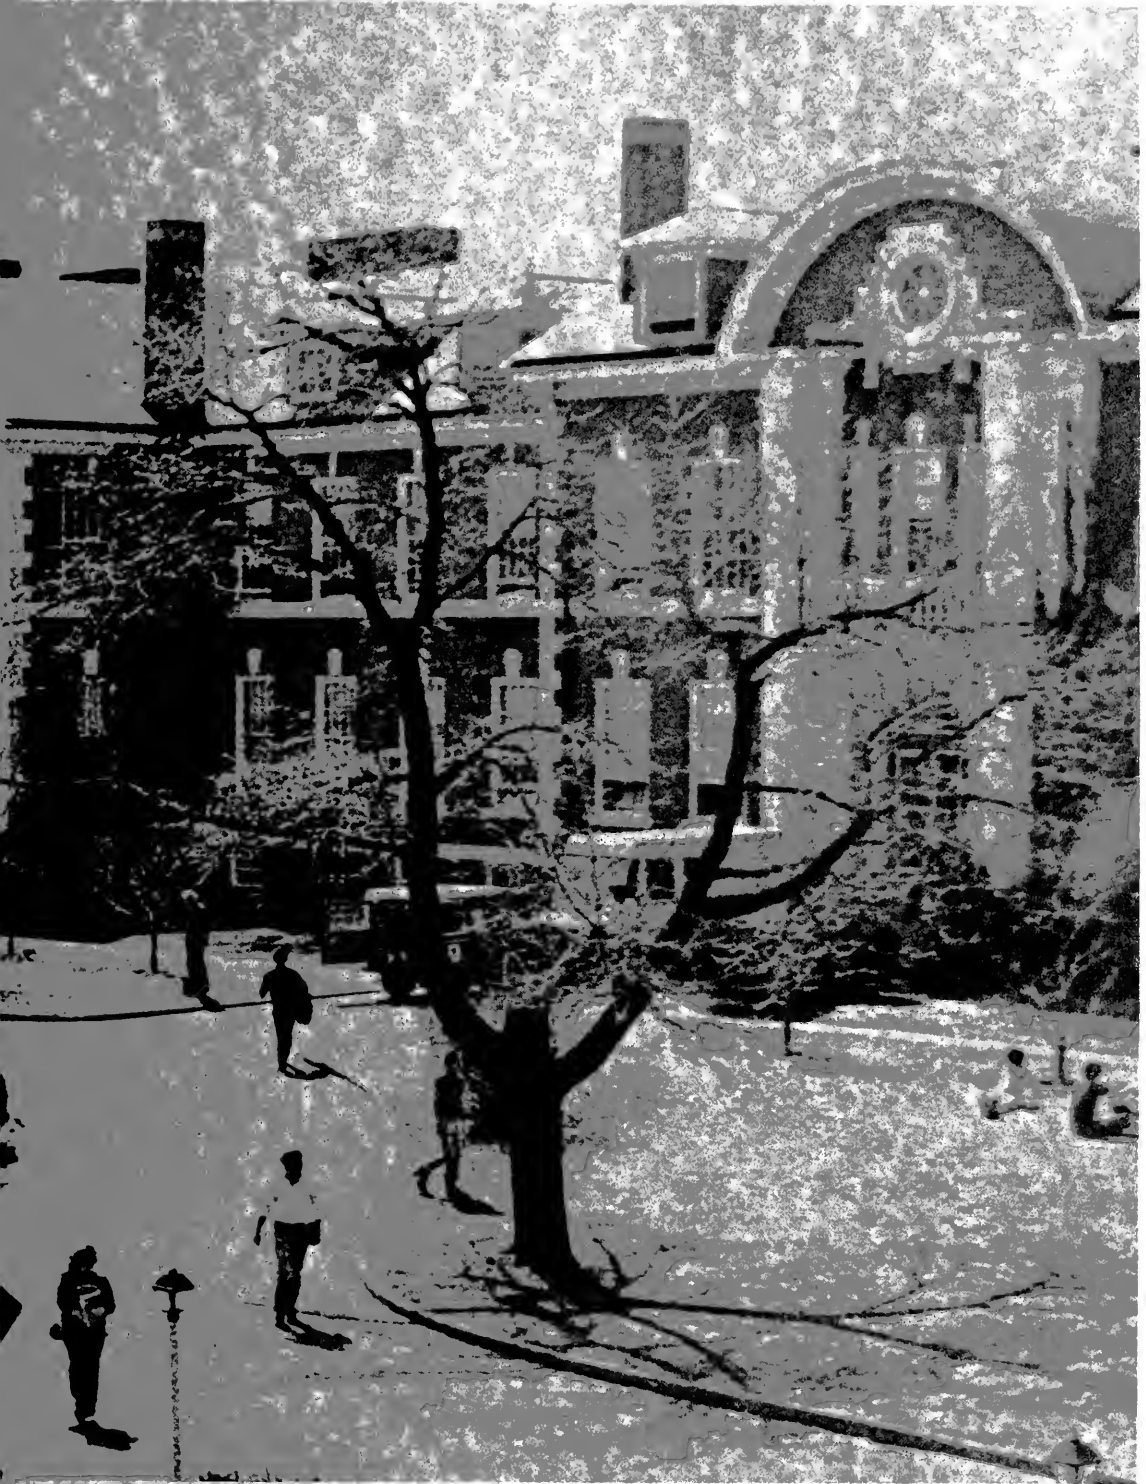

Since 1970 and the beginning of the University of New Haven as an educational institution we have continued to grow adding new facilities such as lab space, the Library named after Marvin K. Peterson, a dormitory, a gymnasium, a new athletic field, a new psychology building and more. This University seems to never stop growing even when other colleges and universities cease to expand and break new ground this is shown by our newest addition which is still in the building stages, the new Academics Building suggested and approved by President Kaplan and the Board of Governors.

Although there are large NO SMOKING signs conveniently posted in each classroom, there is a trace of stale cigarette smoke. There is also a dusty chalk smell which hangs in the corners of the room. Competing with these odors are the exhaust fumes from the cars of students sleepily driving in search of non-existent parking spaces. Other students, alone and in groups, stroll through this cluttered parking area, automatically dodging those drowsy drivers. The university's part- and full-time athletes test their skill on the campus converted frisbee fields where the "thud" of a catch or an occasional deleted phrase or two can be heard. Nearby, the trees are busy displaying their freshly colored leaves — showing off their new spring dresses.

Spring is finally here, school is coming to a close, and the sun's rays shine through the open window and spread warmth and light around my desk. My smile is caressed by the hand on which my chin rests as I peer out into the world of changing color and time.

I hear the light steps of a squirrel scampering across the window sill. Outside a flock of birds screech at each other while busily preparing to welcome the summer months ahead. Noisy students rush across campus gossiping the latest news. The muffled words of the professor trying to teach a lesson compete with this outdoor festival and lose.

My mind wanders through a tall building with wide corridors, smelling of freshly waxed floors. Situated at its side is a small field which is always crowded with gym classes and occasionally a couple of truants. This is high school, where many things begin or end.

Clear in my eyes are the important messages. The school portrays everything from little odds and ends to daydreaming and sometimes education. The large block of wood engraved with four simple letters — PASS, may mean nothing to me now, but they gave me as a high school student the utmost freedom. That ten cent piece of scrap would sometimes be the thin line between life and death. The personal wood carvings— more commonly known as "desk top art" or simply graffiti, could take one back years in time. We could always find enough names, sayings and dates to keep us occupied for the entire period. Stoppily written words scribbled on scraps of paper would decorate the hallways walls. These would chant words of encouragement to the high school athlete.

Fragments of my high school years remain as vivid pictures stored forever in my memory — that secret place in my mind where nobody else can go. In it everything is the same, yet different. Some of the bad is removed, forgotten. Other bad events are simply seasoned with the good.

I am in college now, but I can still sense the tensions, feel the satisfaction and listen to my past. I can still sense the tension before a volleyball match as minutes would hang in the air like hours. I can still feel the nervous satisfaction of learning a term's work the night before the final exam. I can still hear the pounding footsteps, running around the small Columbus track. The pounding becomes lighter and lighter as I am awakened by the soft steps of the squirrel scampering across the window sill. The professor's voice once again echoes and fills the room as she closes the lesson. I whirl my attention toward the classroom, but my eyes pause at a deep carving in the desk top. A sigh of relief; it was a worthwhile class. I learned that John still loves Mary.

The following clubs and organizations were uncooperative about having their group photo taken for this year's CHARIOT. Because of this uncooperation or shyness, whichever the case may be, a CHARIOT staff photographer decided to take it upon herself to snap a candid photo of the leading members of each group while they were not looking. The CHARIOT staff sincerely hopes that in the years to come they will overcome their shyness and in so doing we will be able to take a photo of all the members' better side.

Poundin' Popolizio

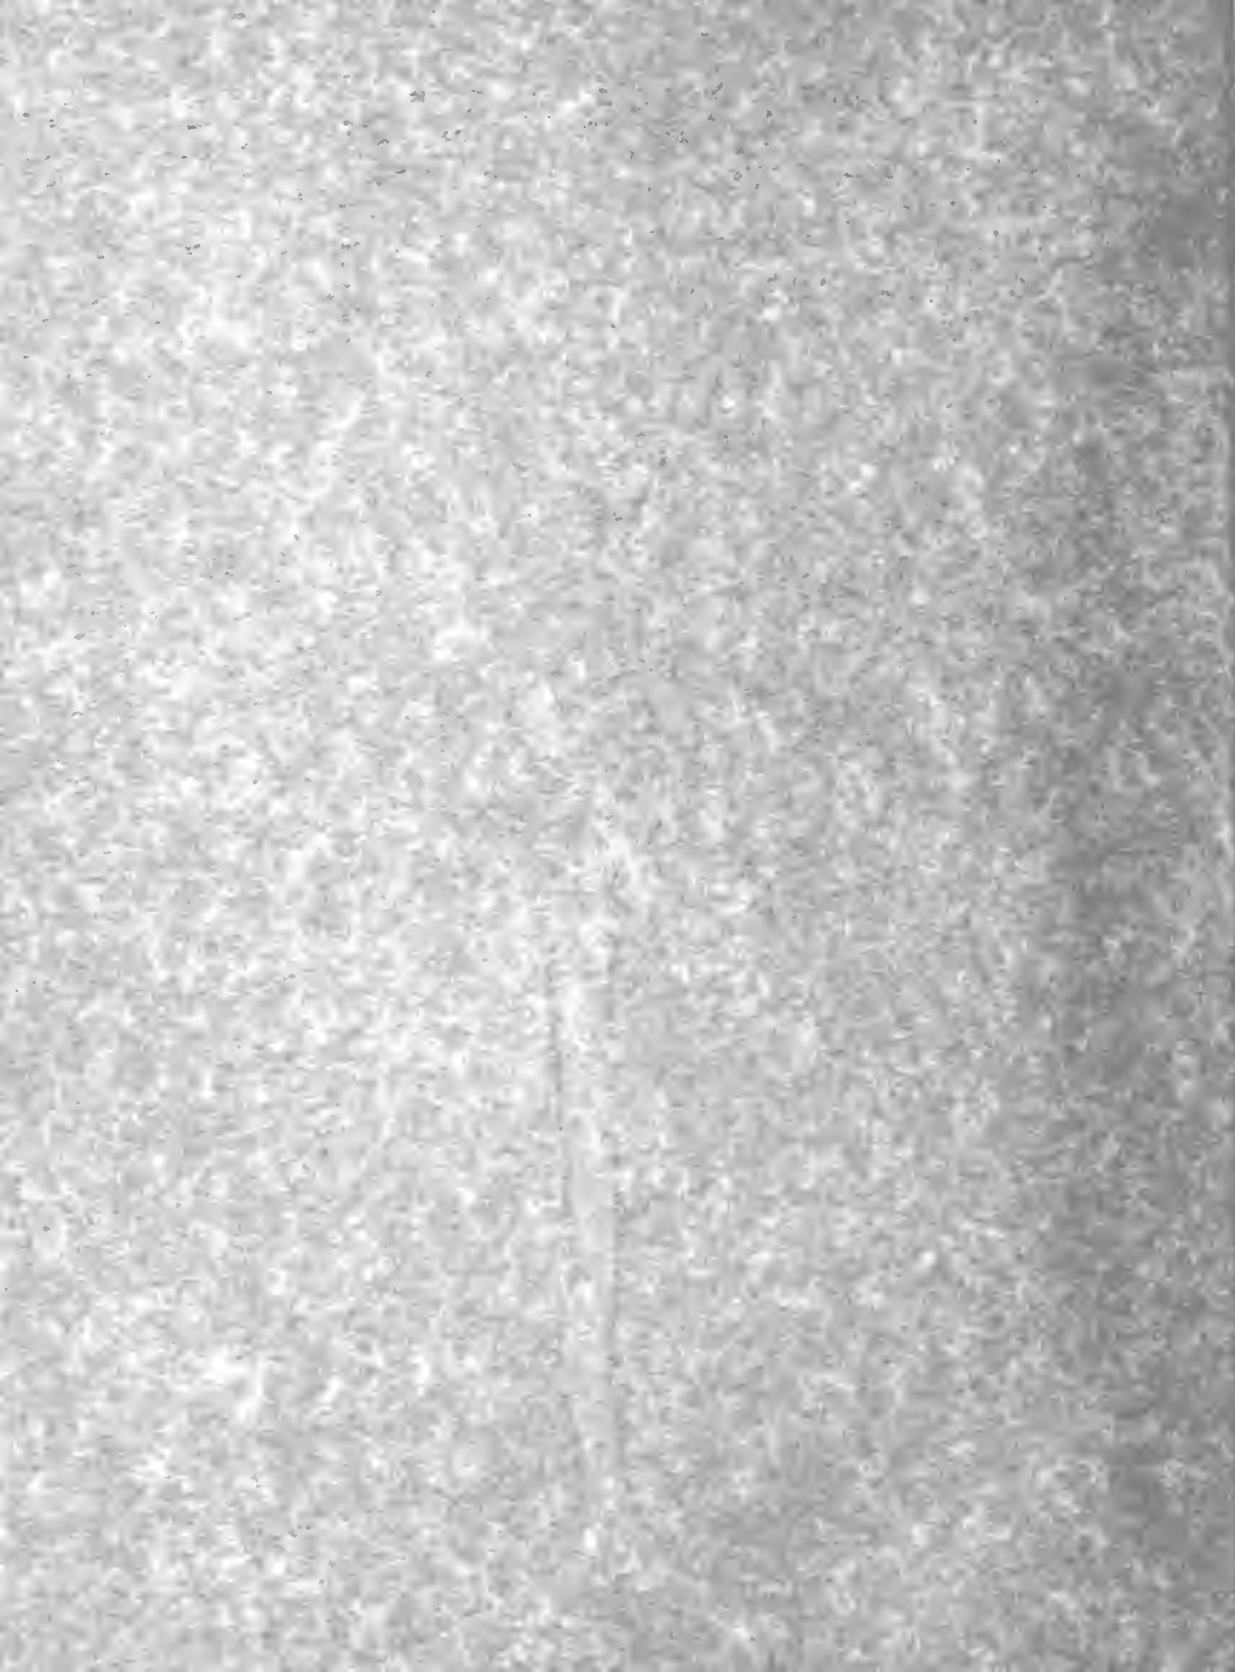

'47 Tennis Champ
Holds J. C. Title
As Not "Novice"

How do you get to be a tennis champ? It's easy. Just buy a racquet and some balls and find yourself a tournament to enter.

Art Popolizio, mechanical engineering student, won his first tournament in almost that way. He had never played the game before he was discharged from the service in 1945. He entered the College the following fall. The annual tennis tournament was announced. He entered, fighting his way through the quarts, semi and final rounds.

A couple of weeks later Art was presented with the first of the two trophies he has won as College champion.

UNH Junior sprinter Otto Pearson made good on his final bid and qualified for the NCAA Division II nationals at Western Illinois University recently only to miss making the national qualifying by fractions of an inch. (Needing a time of 10.4 to qualify, the best he could run was a 10.5.)

In the 400 meters at the IC4A Championships in Philadelphia, Pearson needed a 48 second run or better to qualify. He went out and ran a 47.89 in the IC4A trials and cut it to 47.86 in the semi-finals, just missing a shot at the finals.

His time earned him a trip to West Illinois University where he was clocked at 47.67 in a qualifying preliminary race. With three runners qualifying in each heat, Pearson finished neck-and-neck with Gordon Hines of Adelphi University who was also timed in 47.67. After officials checked and re-checked the photo, they gave the position to Gordon.

Pearson was the New England champion in the 100 meters.

New Haven's mile relay team had also qualified in the beginning of the season for the nationals, but it was withdrawn because of injuries to several members. That group ran a 3:15.3 at the Towson State University Relays in Maryland back in March.

Several outstanding performances were turned in by other Charger runners during the year. Junior Dave Marra set a school record of 49-7 in the shot at the Eastern Intercollegiate Track Championships, while sophomore Marshall Felder ran a 54-second flat race in the 400-meter relays for a school record there. Felder, the New England champ for the event, had switched from the 800 meters.

Freshman Andy Bivens long-jumped 22-11 1/2 for another school record. His accomplishment came at the Collegiate Track Association championships at New York Tech. Other non-record performances were turned in by freshman Lou Orlacchio in the javelin (204-7) and by freshman Mark Shuster, Jerry Perez and sophomore Billy Thompson, all in the 1,500 meters. Shuster was timed in 4:04, and Thompson in 3:57.7.

THE 1981 DSG ELECTIONS

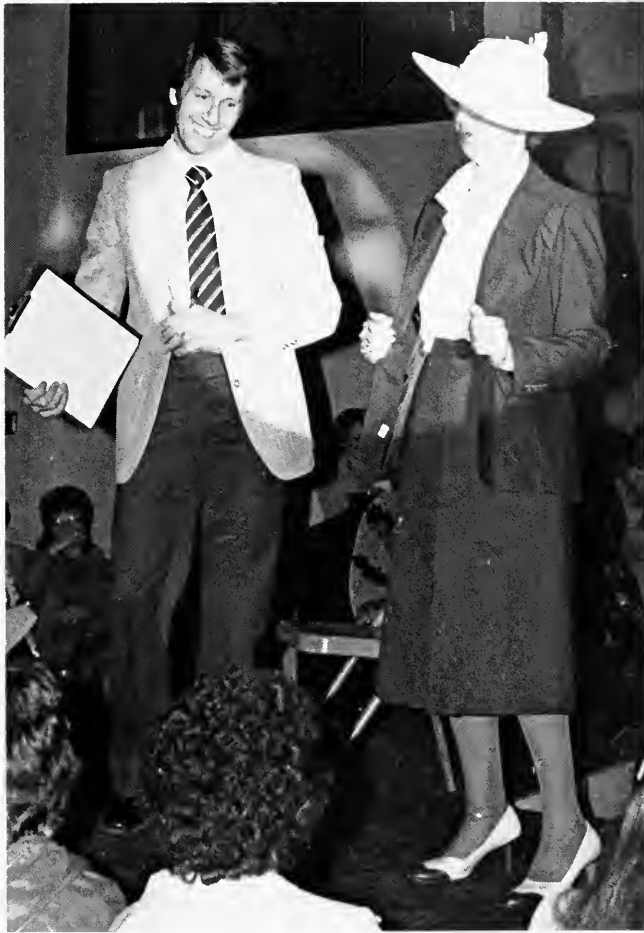

April 20, 21, 22 marked the time when campaigning was over and voting moved in. Donato Lupacchino won the Presidency with 309 votes over Bill Morgan holding 277 votes and Cathy Anne Smith with 157. It was a tough race all through the entire campaign. Colleen Hartigan won the Treasurers seat over Abel Alvarez with 369 votes to his close 315.

Five candidates were elected for the Board of Governors. They are Nathaniel Amritt, who led the race, Bill Kottage, Tony Terrasi, Walt Tucker, and Albert DiLella. The fifteen Delegates that were elected are Richard Cox; with 427 votes setting a new record for the most votes, Mark Thompson, Virginia Messenger, Michael Donahue, Mark Ashkinos, Pat Calabrese, Lillian Hsing, Andrea Orlander, Barbara Thomson, Gabriel de Castro, Bob Wynne, Russ Aglio, James Washington, Mitchell Brunch, and Stanley Ouimette.

Abe Goldberg To Be Toastmaster At Third Annual Sports Banquet

Slated for Toastmaster's duties at the third annual Sports Banquet to be held at the Weatherlane, April 24, is Abraham Goldberg of 201 Ward Street, New Haven.

Chosen from a field of other eligible candidates, "Golbhe," as he is often called, will preside over the after dinner activity, which will include presentation of awards to outstanding participants in the 1950-1951 sports program of the College.

Abe married and won't become a father for the second time is registered in the Business Division of the College. As a typical workaholic, owner of the College. Abe continues to work with his own enterprise, a grocery and grocery store, 1001 Chapel Street.

Asked why he was selected as a toastmaster, the organization, "Golbhe," said, "I've got a real good sense of humor and I'm having some fun in my own way."

Who Took The Darkroom Door?

When you talk about the great "crimes" of the 20th century don't forget the one that has them baffled at New Haven College—who stole the darkroom door?

In broad daylight.

While a photographer watched and even lent a hand. It happened at the West Haven school as Fred Dowling, cameraman for the New Haven College News, got set to develop a role of film. Two youths appeared — perhaps students — and said they had been given orders to remove the door to make room for a new one.

Dowling helped them take watched them walk away with it.

The youths walked right past Mrs. Dorothy Levitsky, desk in the Student Center, headed out the front door and towards the paved parking lot. When John Ghoreyeb, director of Student service, asked them where they were going with the door they nonchalantly replied "To the dump."

That's the last anyone ever saw of the pair—and of the door.

A new portal is now being installed to help the photographers with a problem that is generally acknowledged to be a tough one: operating

1. 0. 5

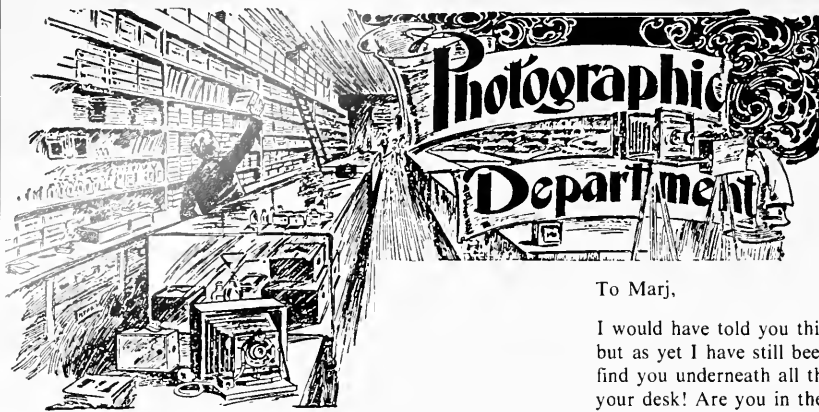

When I decided to resume and was finally voted upon as Editor-in-Chief my first thoughts were "this will be a great experience", little did I know how much of an experience it was going to be.

This year I have experienced many firsts, not only was it my first time as Editor-in-Chief of the Chariot Yearbook, but my first time as Editor-in-Chief of anything, get the picture. It was also my first time really working close with photographers besides a few previous run-ins. Photographers have to be the only people in the world who think tomorrow means next week or the week after. Deadlines mean nothing to photographers. Another first high on my list would have to be for the first time in my life I have been able to predict disasters. Many people are able to predict disasters by the weather or by numbers such as 3 or 13 or maybe even by a black cat. But, for me there is only one sure way to predict a disaster, that is to look on the calendar and see if it is deadline time. If so, that means a disaster is near. I have caught more viruses, flus and colds just before a deadline. Another thing that I have learned to do for the first time is to lie and say yes to the people above you when they ask if the yearbook is running along smooth with no large problems. Honestly, how does a yearbook run smooth? But these same people will always ask if I need help, volunteer their time but never be around when you need them. This is also the very first time I've had so many pressures on me at one time with my studies, deadlines, covering events, preparing for senior portraits, facing two pages of copy and only being able to type it with one finger, burning the midnight oil a long time after midnight, and only realizing after all the complaining I've done that I really did enjoy every moment of it all.

I've enjoyed very much having the opportunity to be in total charge of such a large production. But without the help of a lot of people I could have never done my job. The people who helped make it possible to get the information I needed are the Library Staff, Dr. Cheipitas, Mr. Macionus, Peter Vanderveer, Dot Levitsky, Pat Ahern and Lila Wolf. These people proved that there are many wonderful people in this world willing to help others. Thank-you. There are also the people who helped me put the information together, they are Diane Kern, Shelly Walker, Sue Hervieux, Jo Anne Gensert and Marj Bullenkamp. Even though I tend to complain about late photos, my photographers are the people who made the yearbook a visual memory, such people as Richard Cox, Jackie Kinnear, Michael Cantor, Fred Ball, Wendy Katz, Cindy Bergman, Jackie Fields and Rick Maltz. Rick, as my friend and boyfriend, stood by me when I burnt the midnight oil. He was always there to give me the support I needed when things looked grim. Thanks, babe. There is also one person that is thanked year after year but not even all those years worth is enough thanks for one single year, Brian Hawthorne. Brian you made it all possible. Without a representative like you the staff would have been lost. Thanks.

I will close now by saying that I hope this book will be a continuous reference to all of you of not only your college year but of the years of growing our University has undergone. The history will always be living. See you next year.

*Best Wishes,
Kelly Ryan
Editor-in-Chief*

To Marj,

I would have told you this in person but as yet I have still been unable to find you underneath all that mess on your desk! Are you in there?

In all seriousness it has been a most peculiar but rewarding year working with you, laughing with you and even arguing with you. As a colleague I wish you much success in life and as a friend I wish you a life full of enjoyment. Congratulations! You deserve it!

Love,
Kelly

Although I was Photo-Editor of the 1980-81 Chariot yearbook, I was unable to dedicate all the time that I would have liked to because of my responsibility to finish the 1979-80 Chariot. Therefore, my photogs did a great deal of the work that I should have done. I got so caught up in time that I did not have much of a chance to do any photography — even for myself. I owe somewhat of an apology to Kelly Ryan, Editor of the 1980-81 Chariot, because I should have dedicated as much time to the 1980-81 Chariot as I did to the 1979-80 book. But, I think that Kelly did a great job and should be commended. My fellow grads, I hope that you enjoy this yearbook as much as we enjoyed putting it together.

Anyway, this year has been great, even better than the three previous. I liked it so much that I'm coming back (some call me a glutton). During these past years I have met many terrific people, only a few have become more than acquaintances. There was Claire with her motherly advice, Tim with his wisdom words, Kelly with her optimistic personality and Jeffrey who always had the softest shoulder. There was, of course, Tammy and Rich who were always great for a laugh and my four labbies, Mike, Mike, Jim Bob, and Willy (may it always be wet), who made Wednesday nights in the Rat more exciting, and Bry who was always good company for a drive to the photo store. My friend Richard Cox, who always had a kind word or a little gift and Wendy who was always on the go. I have to say that there was Jackie and John DeN. who were always tolerant of my somewhat inexcusable behavior, and Stan, Sandy, Janet (my big sister), and Lisa (my little sister). And of course Lisa D. who's giggle made us all laugh. Thank-you all for being a part of my life that I will never forget.

Then there was Stephen, my honey. He is the most important person that I have met in these past four years. He's taught me more about myself and others — more than UNH could ever teach me. He is my knight in shining armor and did come to my emotional rescue. I do not know where I would be without him. To you Stephen, I dedicate all the time and energy that I put into this yearbook and last year's yearbook — for in a way I did it for you because you were my inspiration.

Oh, and uh, THANKS MOM AND DAD . . .
